Removal of the Utes.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The secretary of the interior has appointed Rev. T. S. Childs of Washington, D. C., Major R. B. Weaver of Arkansas and J. Montgomery Smith of Wisconsin as a commission to negotiate with the bands of Ute Indians in southern Colorado for such modification of their treaty and other rights and such exchange of their reservation as may be deemed advisable by the Indians and the secretary of the interior. This commission is authorized if the result of such negotiations shall make it necessary to negotiate with any other tribe of Indians for such portion of their reservation as may be necessary for the Utes if they shall determine to remove from their present location. The commission will leave for the west in a few days.

Deficiency Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The house committee on appropriations to-day added the following items of appropriation to the general deficiency bill: To supply estimated deficiency in the appropriation for the collection of customs revenue for the fiscal year 1889, $450,000; for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of the alien contract labor law for the fiscal year 1888, $50,000. [illegible] inserted in the bill the recommendation of the secretary of the treasury for amendment of the alien contract labor law.

Utah's Mineral Wealth.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The Chicago papers to-day devote considerable space to a car load of specimens of Utah product sent out for exhibition through the country by the Salt Lake chamber of commerce. The car is now on a side track here at the union depot, Canal and Van Buren streets, and is attracting many visitors. The Times pronounces the car a moving palace of mineral wonders and wealth and adds: The specimens are displayed in glittering nickel mounted cases and the range of rich minerals which are shown as lying around in Utah waiting for the miner's pick is wonderful. Sol… ore falls off the mountains in chunks so large that it would require a day's walk to get over them. Silica for glass making purposes runs riot and sulphur is found 40 per cent pure. Soda and lithographic stone largely imported from Germany are plentiful, also asbestos and plumbago, usually imported from Canada, and sculptural marble as fine as that found in Italy. Any of these deposits are found in Utah in sufficient quantities to supply the nation. The car is in charge of H. F. Culmer and Douglas White, assisted by … [illegible]. Every attention is shown persons visiting the car. It will remain here until Thursday night.

A GALA DAY.

The Founding of Colored Odd Fellowship in this City

Duly Observed with Appropriate and Interesting Exercise

Large Visiting Delegations from Pueblo and Denver.

A Street Parade Followed by a Largely Attended Meeting.

The colored people of Colorado Springs thoroughly enjoyed themselves yesterday in celebrating the second anniversary of the … Odd Fellowship in this city. The exercises of the day were in charge of the local lodge and were of a somewhat … character. In the morning two large excursion trains arrived in the city from Pueblo and Denver. About … came from the former city and … from the latter.

A few minutes after 2 o'clock the local and visiting Odd Fellows made a street parade which was witnessed by a large number of people. The procession started from the hall on Huerfano street … the … band … followed … Ashby of this city, marshal of the day, and El Paso Lodge No. 2771 of Colorado Springs with 24 men in line. Then came the Rocky Mountain Lodge No. … of Denver in charge of … T. … with 23 men. The Puritan Lodge No. … of Pueblo led by Meek Valley had 16 men in the procession and preceded the Arapahoe Lodge No. 2916 of Denver which brought up the rear. The latter organization was led by J. S. Saunders and had 16 men in the parade.

All of the lodges in the procession … and the showing made was quite creditable. After marching through the business portion of the city, the Odd Fellows proceeded to Court House hall where exercises of a public character were held. The room was crowded to its fullest capacity and a large number were unable to gain admittance. The platform was occupied by Mr. … Tarbet, chairman of the local committee of arrangements and Mr. G. S. Contee, the Noble Grand of Rocky Mountain lodge who had charge of the Denver excursion.

After prayer by L. King, chaplain of El Paso lodge, Rev. D. E. Johnson of this city, a member of the order, was introduced and delivered an appropriate address of welcome. After extending a hearty greeting to the visiting Odd Fellows the speaker gave a brief account of the nature and mission of Odd Fellowship. He said that the order would and must exercise a potent influence in the mental and moral elevation of the Afro-American race. He referred to the great progress which the colored race had made … and said that there was not a walk of civil or professional life which had not been filled by representative Afro-Americans. The address was an interesting one, and its delivery was forcible and impressive. It was heartily applauded at the close.

P. … N. F. F. H. Hackley of Rocky Mountain Lodge responded to the address in a brief and pointed manner. He referred to the ties which bound Odd Fellows together and eulogized the order for its inculculation of the principles of true friendship.

After brief addresses by H. H. Powers of Puritan lodge of Pueblo and R. K. Felton of Arapahoe lodge, Denver, the exercises concluded with the benediction by … Riley, also of Arapahoe lodge.

After the exercises at the court house hall the city hall was thrown open to the visitors where an informal reception was held. Dancing began after supper and was continued until a late hour.

There was not a single occurrence to mar the day's festivities and everybody appeared to be enjoying themselves to the utmost.

Resumption of Iron Works.

PITTSBURG, July 18.—When the iron manufacturers association was formally dissolved two members of the association who have not signed the Amalgamated scale were absolved from all pledges and authorized to act in their individual capacity regarding the starting of their works. A general resumption will probably take place in a few days.

The Mandeville Inquest.

DUBLIN, July 18.—The inquest in the case of Mandeville was continued at Mitchellstown. Town Justice Moore had deposed that Mandeville while suffering from sore throat and diarrhoea was put on punishment diet. He found Mandeville naked in his cell having been deprived of his clothing for 24 hours.

Disarmament of France.

PARIS, July 18.—The Journal Des Debats says the government has information that Emperor William will request the czar's adhesion while at St. Petersburg to agreement to impose disarmament upon France. Such request will find no response in France.

French political circles ridicule the report that Queen Natalie has arrived in Paris accompanied by Princess [illegible].

Escape from Justice.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cala., July 18.—Jacob Dausher, arrested at Daggett, California, for the murder of Louis Shoenberg at Denver, Colorado, and brought here for safe keeping, committed suicide to-day by hanging himself. He left a letter saying he was not guilty of the crime with which he was charged.

COLORADO CITY ITEMS.

Mr. Grove Wilkin, a clerk in Perkins [illegible] clothing store, is reported quite sick.

A meeting of the Adams' Hose company will take place tonight. A full attendance is requested.

[illegible] new buildings are now in course of construction in Bovee's addition, and more will soon be built.

Mr. Chas. Redmond, who has been [illegible] with rheumatism for some time, is now able to be out of doors.

Fifty new names have been added to the roll of the republican club since its [illegible]. There are now about 160 [illegible]. The club will probably meet [illegible].

Mrs. Hunt, who recently sold out her [illegible] on Colorado avenue, will open a restaurant in a few days. He will occupy a building which was formerly devoted to [illegible] just west of the Nickel Plate.

The building recently erected in the Rio Grande yards by the Stewart Cement company, is now occupied by the Rio Grande agent as a depot, express and telegraph office. The cement company will also have office room in the building.

The grading on the Rock Island, with the [illegible] this city, is nearly completed. The work of building the bridges on the road will commence [illegible], as the pile driver is expected to arrive within a few days. It is expected that the tracklayers will reach the city about October 20th.

A Catholic's Protest.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Mr. Gardiner makes an erroneous remark about the church which he incorrectly calls the Roman church. The Catholics do not wish to get possession of the public schools and make them sectarian. Please allow me to tell him what they do wish, though: Every one knows that the best time of life for acquiring an education in any branch of knowledge is in youth. If we teach our children mathematics, grammar, etc., why should we not teach them and make them familiar with their religion at the same time. An hour in Sunday school does very little for them. Then the best way is to have them taught their religion each day in school, that while they are advancing in the knowledge that will be useful for this life they may also advance in that knowledge which will help to an infinitely better life. There is no such teaching given in the public schools. Catholic parents in such vast numbers support these schools that they wish Catholic teachers and Catholic textbooks for their children only and not for the whole schools as Mr. [illegible] says. It is [illegible] feasible plan for the Roman Catholic church, the church of Christ that has stood unchanged from the day Christ promised to be with it all days and the church that is alike in its teaching the wide world over. Not so wise would it be for each of the numerous churches founded by men to attempt a like plan. I, by God's own goodness to me and not led by any human persuasion, am a member of the Roman Catholic church, and hate to see it misrepresented. Respectfully,

N. Y. Z.

HUTCHINSON, July 18.—The prohibition state convention assembled here today. An unusually large number of women are present. Col. D. W. Houston temporary chairman predicted that the republican party would be a thing of the past before another year. The usual committees were appointed.

Headquarters Selected.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The national republican committee met today and selected a [illegible] story brick house, [illegible] Fifth avenue as headquarters. They will move in as soon as the building can be got ready.

[illegible] Received His Nomination, and Some Stories of His Campaign—Gossip About Three Great Men—Ingalls' Aphorisms.

[illegible] United States [illegible] Tennessee. [illegible] [illegible] of President [illegible] Whitthorne [illegible] Washington [illegible] spring water [illegible]

[illegible] and the story of his administration forms one of the most important periods of the present century. During it the Mexican war occurred, and we [illegible] Texas with all of the immense territory connected with it. During it the Oregon question was settled, and New Mexico and California [illegible]. Polk [illegible] popular president, and the history of his administration would make a very interesting volume."

"Why has it not been written [illegible]"

"One reason [illegible] Senator Whitthorne, "that President Polk died before he could superintend the work. His term closed, you know, in March, 1849. During that summer he went to New Orleans [illegible] sick on his journey home and died at Nashville on the 15th of June, 1849. He had prepared the notes for a history of his administration and had engaged [illegible], Mr. Marcy, of New York, to write it.

"President Polk was very methodical in all his ways. He kept all of his letters and had them indexed. He [illegible] a rule kept all of his [illegible]. He had a large house at Nashville [illegible] stands [illegible]. [illegible] his biographer [illegible] the papers in order, and [illegible] Secretary Marcy [illegible] time Polk died. It [illegible] through all these years, and they [illegible] now in that room in Nashville [illegible] condition that they were [illegible] Polk prepared them [illegible]. It was expected that [illegible] Washington [illegible] and prepare a biography. [illegible] however, and the work will [illegible]."

"What were the elements of President Polk's success?"

"They were many," replied Senator Whitthorne. "He was [illegible] considerable ability. He [illegible] young man, [illegible] into political life at an early age [illegible] many friends and few enemies [illegible] good memory, and seldom [illegible] name. He married a good woman [illegible] helped him with his [illegible] to the general, and while [illegible] White House it was said [illegible] undoubtedly helped him a good deal. [illegible] tion to his constituents. He [illegible] of the state [illegible] defeated [illegible] when he ran against [illegible] no one [illegible] than Polk.

"James C. Jones was [illegible] from 1841 to 1845, and a strong [illegible] the Whigs. He was a [illegible] and very quick [illegible] turn everything to his own advantage. [illegible] joint debates [illegible] the canvass, and [illegible] Polk was quoting from a report of [illegible] of the treasury, and [illegible] some figures [illegible] to the charge of [illegible] his time he read. Jones arose and informed him and asked: 'And what, Mr. Polk, did you say was the title of that book?'

"'That is the report of the secretary of the treasury,' replied Polk [illegible].

"'And where is it printed?' said Jones.

"Polk turned to the title page and said it was printed at The Globe office. Jones said nothing, but merely made an expressive shrug of his shoulders, which gave the audience to understand that nothing true could come out of that printing office and that it must be and was a Democratic lie. The result of this campaign was the defeat of Polk and the election of Jones."

"How was Polk nominated [illegible] dency?"

"It was done at the Baltimore convention [illegible] Polk's nomination was a surprise to all. Van Buren was the leading candidate, but he had written a letter against the annexation of Texas and it was [illegible] impossible to get him the two-thirds vote for nomination. Polk had expected to be nominated for vice president with Van Buren as president, and he [illegible], by a Van Buren delegation from Tennessee for this purpose. Andrew Jackson was for Polk and especially so because Polk sustained him against the defection of Hugh L. White, who had run against his lieutenant, Van Buren, at a previous election. When Polk had been nominated at Baltimore, Silas Wright was chosen as vice president. He declined it, and Dallas took his place. After the convention Van Buren's friends claimed that they had made Polk and they wanted to run him. He made them very angry by taking Marcy, who was the head of the opposing faction in New York, as his secretary of war.

"I remember well," continued Senator Whitthorne, "my first meeting with President Polk after he had been nominated. He had sent me on horseback sixty miles from Columbia to pay a sum of money to a client of his. He was very punctual in such matters, and he wanted everything paid upon the very day it was due. I had paid the money and was on my way back home, when, about [illegible] miles from Nashville I was told of the news by a farmer, and I yelled out at the top of my voice [illegible] in my joy [illegible] the man [illegible] I was crazy. This was in the early morning, and I rode on rapidly to Columbia, arriving there at [illegible] o'clock. [illegible] until a crowd collected in the square in the center of the town. As I rode up I saw the nominee for president seated upon a [illegible] door with his chin about even with his knees chatting to the men around him. As he saw me he jumped to his feet and came out to meet me. I congratulated him and asked him if he were not surprised at his nomination. He replied that he was not, for he had received intimation of its possibility from Aaron V. Brown and Cave Johnson. They had written that a dark horse would probably win the race and that he was talked of. The fact that this man, who had just been nominated for president, could sit upon a [illegible] door in a [illegible] position and that he would jump up and rush out to talk to a boy like myself, shows how little pomposity or [illegible] there was in President Polk's nature."

"Tell me how he looked?"

"He was neither tall nor fat. He was rather fair than dark. He had a good [illegible] and beautiful gray eyes. He always wore his face smoothly shaven, and his hair was dark. He dressed well, and was, on the whole, a very good looking man."

"'Who,' said I, 'is the greatest man you have [illegible]?'

"I have only known [illegible] whom I have regarded as [illegible] close to them. These were Daniel Webster, Robert

Several of the girls, however, who always stood near the head of the line, wore veils of white tissue. The maidens' sleeves showed no [illegible] connection with any outer garment; they fitted the arm closely, and were of some silk stuff, with stripes running around the arm. Most of the girls wore slippers, but a few were barefoot. The whole costume was bright with harmonious colors.

About sixty of these maidens danced together, with arms interlaced in a double line, for hours. The dance was led by one or two young [illegible] at the head of the line attached to the maidens only by means of a handkerchief. [illegible] the words of the song [illegible]. The steps were simple, generally three forward, followed by [illegible] so as to move in a circle. I have seen mixed dances of men and women in [illegible], though these have been [illegible]. The men, however, [illegible] have their own dances, which are much more vigorous than those of the girls.—Thomas D. Seymour in Scribner's Magazine.

The Preacher Was Amazed.

He was an old man, attired in sober black, and had come on to attend the church convention. His blue [illegible] waved gently in the wind, and he had been down to the academy to hear the speeches and [illegible]. On his way up [illegible] stopped at a cigar stand [illegible] with the intention of purchasing a good cigar. After considerable delay a cigar was selected through the joint efforts of the reverend visitor and the attendant at the cigar stand. He lighted it and asked its price. It was a quarter. Was there ever such a price paid for a cigar before? He thought not, and began to expostulate vigorously against the extortion.

In the meantime, a prominent lawyer who was standing near and had been taking in the whole scene, approached the cigar stand and in a quiet voice remarked to the attendant: "Robert, give me a cigar—one of the usual kind," at the same time drawing from his pocket a [illegible] bill. Robert, who knew the joke, passed out [illegible] $5 bill, which he placed [illegible].

The [illegible] divine was dumfounded. He left the place without a word, and the odds are about ninety to one that at some quiet village will be electrified in the near future by a powerful sermon on the extravagances of city life. After his departure, the lawyer returned and got his change—$4.85.—Philadelphia Times.

BEST LINE EAST

The Union Pacific Ry is by all odds the "Best Line East," on account of the fast time that is made and the reasonable hours for leaving Denver Also the close connection that is made in Union depots with the trunk lines from Kansas City Council Bluffs, St Louis and Chicago to all the principal cities in the east The U P Ry. is also the short line to the Pacific Coast running two trains daily west and four trains to the east daily. The evening trains from Colorado Springs make close connections in Denver with the Union Pacific Ry.
